

September 20, 2018

Lisa Over
Palumbo Donahue School of Business
Duquesne University

Dear Lisa,

We would like to thank you, on behalf of the University, for committing valuable time and effort to successfully completing the 8-week online course Foundations in Online Teaching and Learning. We are delighted to send you this Letter of Recognition.

In completing the Foundations Course, and thus enhancing your skills as an online instructor, you support Duquesne University's efforts to provide the very best learning opportunities for our students. By thoughtfully and intentionally integrating technology, online pedagogy, and systematic instructional design into your course and teaching practice, you demonstrate a commitment to the university and its goal of providing the highest quality educational experiences.

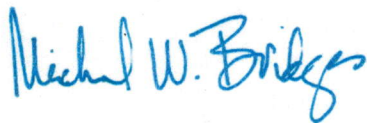

We would especially like to recognize the way in which your participation in this course evidences the collaborative spirit among the members of Duquesne's teaching/learning community. Such cooperative efforts will be critical as we adapt to the changing face of education at all levels in our society during the coming years.

We encourage you to continue make use of the many resources that Duquesne provides to support your teaching.

Sincerely,

David J. Dausey, Ph.D.
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs

Michael W. Bridges, Ph.D.
Executive Director, Online Learning & Strategy